Before The Storm

Blessthefall

It's not quiet before the storm
It's not safe here inside this home
'Cause the walls will burn, the smoke will rise
You won't know it's too late, Til you open your eyes

For what it's worth, it's not worth saving
How can you watch when I'm falling apart
You gonna choke on the words you spoke
But not me, not me

This place is desolating
Give in to the things that I say
Turn me inside out

This changes everything!

What are you running away from
I was just a kid, I was just a kid
Waiting for answers that won't come
Can we just forget or is this the end?

For what its worth, it's not worth saving
You take all and you throw it away
I'm not here for your forgiveness
You're changing everything!

This changes everything!
This changing everything!
You're changing everything!

It's not quiet before the storm
It's not safe here inside the storm
'Cause walls will burn, the smoke will rise
You won't know it's too late
Til you open your eyes

(Open your eyes)

What are you running away from
I was just a kid, I was just a kid
Waiting for answers that won't come (until now)
Can we just pretend or is this the end?
Is this the end!

If you feel dead inside
I hope you know my hands are tied

This changes everything!
