

Laughing Right Out Loud

Bleu Edmondson

Don't I know you from the time before
I think I saw you in the country store
Buying food for the family
You never knew all that well
She had a sadness I could not place
She had such a pretty southern face
And I knew she'd walk out
Leaving me with a heart I could not sell

Ah but you can feel the summertime
Getting high on screw top wine
Trying not to spin & laughin' laughin' right out loud

See the black man sitting there sitting in that rocking chair
Well he plays the blues people throw coins his way
In some ways I'm a lot like him
Singin' bout what might have been Laugh & love & cry & wish
But tomorrow it's another day

It's a cold time of the year
Sit & drink your bottled beer
You're talking to your friends
Their laughin' laughin' right out loud

Well I remember when I learned to run
The day sets on my daddy's son
And I let this music take me far from this crowd
So when you think about the days of old
You listen to the Hill Country gold
Well hold onto love & keep on laughing keep laughing right out loud

Well it's another summertime
Still getting high on screw top wine
Trying not to spin & laughin' laughin' right out loud
Your laughin' right out loud
