

A Secret Society

Blind Guardian

So you return at last
And with nothing in hand as it seems
But too late and too little in strength
If you hoped for your friends
Though by now you surely realised they're gone
Not of concern, anymore
But what shall we do with you?
You appear different than those we have just sent to hell

Our friends they are not

Who? Who the hell are you?