Blindside

It seems so clear today
Why not yesterday instant replay
There I go again without having anything to say

I don't lie everything I said to you was true
But still just words trying to convince myself of my position on the same level as you

Shut your eyes
Cover your ears
You can't see my eyes
Because my mouth is too wide open

When my mouth starts talking about everything I have and what I can bring
That is the proof for you that I have nothing
