

MORE THAN YOU KNOW

Blink-182

Your bed is the last battlefield, a nuclear weapon
Let's search and destroy all the innocent throats we can step on
You bury your face underneath, half-hearted confessions
You poison yourself with the thought I won't love you to death

Black lights across my face
Words that we'll never write
Wait for the phone to ring
Back to the starting light, go!

I don't feel pain, but I feel more than you'd ever know
I don't feel shame, I don't have highs, but I've got some lows
I feel a bit cursed, I've been numb and sinking down like a stone
I don't feel pain, but I feel more than you'd ever know
More than you'd know

I shook all the leaves from your tree and left you with nothing
I can't see the colors you see, they won't see me coming
The ivy is starting to creep, it grows through the awnings
It's dawning on me that I shouldn't be trying at all

Black lights across my face
Words that we'll never write
Wait for the phone to ring
Back to the starting light, go!

I don't feel pain, but I feel more than you'd ever know
I don't feel shame, I don't have highs, but I've got some lows
I feel a bit cursed, I've been numb and sinking down like a stone
I don't feel pain, but I feel more than you'd ever know
More than you'd know

It goes on and on, I swear it don't belong
On and on, I swear we don't belong (We're lonely, wherever, too tongue-tied forever)
It goes on and on, I swear it don't belong (We're lonely, wherever, too tongue-tied forever, forever)

I don't feel pain, but I feel more than you'd ever know
I don't feel shame, I don't have highs, but I've got some lows
I feel a bit cursed, I've been numb and sinking down like a stone
I don't feel pain, but I feel more than you'd ever know
More than you'd know