

When to Say When

Blitz Kids

I could talk forever about never getting better but something's gotta give.
Mistakes out on the table, I just hope you can forgive.
My need for some attention sent me running from the truth,
The meantime had me certain that I'd tie up my own, tie up my o wn noose.

Baby I would take the bridge for you, across or off the edge,
Cause I never learnt the meaning of when to say when.
Baby I would take the bridge for you, across or off the edge,
Cause I never learnt the meaning of when to say when.

I fear we'll both be swallowed by what we still don't know,
Time is a selfish mistress, all I want's to take it slow.
But explore the skin I stretch, before we are too late,
The days they seem so hasty, to seal our star-crossed, to seal our star-crossed fate.

Seal our star-crossed fate.

Lord knows where I'd still be without you,
Honey I could barely breathe without you.
A river of excess,
Enbanked with my own innocence.

Baby I would take the bridge for you, across or off the edge,
Cause I never learnt the meaning of when to say when.
Baby I would take the bridge for you, across or off the edge,
Cause I never learnt the meaning of when to say when.

I fear these man-made shackles will only break with time.
Our patience was a virtue, but it's still not on our side.
I wake up to your suitcase every morning and most nights,
These days they seem so hasty, so I pray you'll miss that, pray you'll miss that flight.

Baby I would take the bridge for you, across or off the edge,
Cause I never learnt the meaning of when to say when.
