

Love Grow Cold

Blitzen Trapper

Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold

I seen you looking at the second hand store
But the past is past, it's like a locked down door
And there ain't no words for what you're looking for
So honey don't you let your love grow cold

Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Baby don't you let your love grow cold

Seen ya on the street without your wedding band
I been your lover, can I be your man
I guess the life you leadin' ain't the one you planned
So honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold

Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold

When the world, it shivers like a setting sun
When the strings are silent, and the singin's done
And the silver cord, you know it comes it undone
There ain't no place to hide, ain't no place to run

So honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold

'Cause the reaper plays for keeps
Change your number baby, change your sheets
Now you've loved and you've lost and you've left for dead
I guess we'll all be hanged for every word we've said
So tell me where you're gonna lay your head

Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold
Honey don't you let your love grow cold
