

Magical Thinking

Blitzen Trapper

Tryin' so hard to believe there's more
To this life than what you see
Think magically in the nighttime driveway
Waiting for the man to break you
Into a million shattered parts
But every human heart throws a shadow on this wall
On this wall

Climbed to the top of the tower
That sits on the outskirts of the town
He climbed right up behind you, didn't he?
And then he climbed back down to the ground, a wrathful deity
Lit a cigarette beneath the tree
And then he cast his shadow long
In the house where you were young
In a street, in a town that's gone

Struck by a meteor
Sitting at a stoplight
Fingers on the key
Eventually you gotta face facts
He ain't coming back
So think magically
A million shattered parts
But every human heart throws a shadow on this wall
On this wall, on this wall

So think magically
Think magically
Think magically
Think magically
