

Chain of Memories

Blood On The Dance Floor

Today I'm too exhausted to breathe
Today I feel like death would be my peace
Like the moon, we all have a dark side
For so long, I was lost in a place with no sunlight

But every once in a while, a beam of light will shine
Reminding me of better days and time
Like a starry sky, it opened up my mind
Turn the music louder, feel it now you're prouder

There's a light
When I laugh with my old friends
Chains of memories
We'll never part, I'll dream of you
Jump, dive in
Bring me back to life again
I know deep down
There's a light that won't go out

Living is difficult
I really need a miracle
Succumb to the urge of bad memories
Looking for a cure, a relief or a remedy

But every once in a while, a beam of light will shine
Reminding me of better days and time
Like a starry sky, it opened up my mind
Turn the music louder, feel it now you're prouder
There's a light
When I laugh with my old friends
Chains of memories
We'll never part, I'll dream of you

Jump, dive in
Bring me back to life again
I know deep down
There's a light that won't go out

My fondest memory
Was meeting you that one night
You were dressed in all black
We shared a drink and we laughed for hours
That's the thing about memories
They're the treasures we keep in our hearts
They're the pieces, the fragments that make us who we are Without those memories, we would be nothing

I know deep down in the darkness
(There's a light that won't go out)
I know deep down in the darkness
(There's a light that won't go out)

There's a light
When I laugh with my old friends
Chains of memories
We'll never part, I'll dream of you
Jump, dive in

Bring me back to life again
I know deep down
There's a light that won't go out
