Incomplete and All Alone

Blood On The Dance Floor

Eternal pain; something I will take to my grave Your memory is an image I just can't erase I spend my life always walking in the shadows Scared, alone; locked away inside my castle And when you love something, they say set it free If it don't come back, it wasn't meant to be I destroy everything I touch Even things I love too much I am cursed with these hands They will never understand I don't want to let you go Incomplete and all alone Here I am waiting for my sacred true love With these hands that will reach out like a scarecrow When you love something, they set it free If it don't come back, it wasn't meant to be I destroy everything I touch Even things I love too much I am cursed with these hands They will never understand I don't want to let you go Incomplete and all alone I destroy everything I touch Even things I love too much I am cursed with these hands They will never understand I don't want to let you go Incomplete and all alone Uh oh uh oh I'm incomplete and all alone Uh oh uh oh I don't want to let you go
