

I Love You More Than Ever

Blood, Sweat & Tears

Our love's not at the beginning
It had a little time to grow
But it keeps me amazed how your loving never changed
And there's nothing to stop the flow
Words are so often mistaken
The meaning becomes unclear
But I love you more and more and each and every day before
I especially want you to know that I love you more than ever
And I want to love you more, yes I love you more than ever
And I want to love you more

So if you ever been doubtful.
For you cannot believe what you see
You can put your tears away
Save them for a rainy day
Cause those thoughts never came to me
Now please let me reassure you that I feel the same way to
Oh I couldn't be without but wouldn't want to anyhow
My whole living belongs around you

Girl I love you more than ever still I want to love you more
Yes I love you more than ever and I want to love you more

Girl I love you more than ever still I want to love you more
Yes I love you more than ever and I want to love you more

Girl I love you more than ever still I want to love you more
Yes I love you more than ever and I want to love you more

Girl I love you more than ever still I want to love you more
Yes I love you more than ever and I want to love you more

Yes I love you more than ever and I want to love you more

Girl I love you more than ever still I want to love you more
Yes I love you more than ever and I want to love you more
