

Devotion

Bloodred Hourglass

At the darkest part you shine the brightest light
For someone you hold the whole world inside
Dropped depression in a heartbeat
I thank you endlessly for everything

So this is for us
The cores of fire, the tender hearts
This is for us
What has become my equilibrium
What a mess made...

You showed me the light I could follow
When I lost my inner Apollo
I'm holding onto everything you said
I'm reaching for the stars where we wrote it
So somewhen we could have it all
From longing into being one

So we die ghosted?
Just close our eyes from all that love?
We die ghosted?
So close to doorstep of our love?

You showed me the light I could follow
When I lost my inner Apollo
I remember every word that you wrote me
The lips of red and all devotion you showed me
From my closet full of skeletons
Discovery take me, where my dreams they belong
Where my dreams they belong
Where my dreams they belong
Now, where my dreams they belong

Don't go, never give it up
Don't leave, let me light it up
We'll fight and we'll fix, we'll succumb to love
And survive the downfalls
Survive the downfalls
We heal the scars tomorrow

I kept holding onto everything you said
I kept reaching for the stars where we wrote it
So somewhen we could have it all
From longing into being one
Grateful for the words that you wrote me
All the compassion you showed me
Somehow I just lost it all
All the equilibrium
All the equilibrium
In our devotion