

Leave out All the Rest

Bloodred Hourglass

No day to pass without a thought
No dawn to carry new hope
Keep dreaming
Of something so unknown
Keep reaching on
To lose all your control
Hearts on arms with stains
I don't think they still remain
When all I had was the lack of way to say

I know I'd write your history
As you go, just block our victory

Choking your perfection
I've lost my place
It's all my sole affliction
And now it's too late
Let go, leave out all the rest
Let go, leave out all the rest

Inside the part
Reprise of the time
The real part that I lived for
All the beauty to blind the beholder
Pour my heart out, lay my love down
Think you hide me the truth
But I can't see through to you
Day after day I die inside for you

I know I'd write your history
As you go, just block our victory

Choking your perfection
I've lost my place
It's all my sole affliction
And now it's too late
Let go, leave out all the rest
Let go, leave out all the rest

Would you bring me back something
That you broke in two?
Now bring me that something
Yes, I'm looking at you
Like I promised you
This one is highly of
You

It's all my sole affliction
And now it's too late
Let go, leave out all the rest
Let go, leave out all
The only chance to never last
All now what we have
The only chance to never last
Sure I should have known
To let go
Leave out all the rest

Let go