

Tell Me About Yesterday Tomorrow

Bloodred Hourglass

You and I
The guilt inside
Guess some of this just has to be forgotten
You and I
Demolished the road
That takes us back to start
Reminding now

We fell apart
We were overpowered
Too far apart
For our devour
This fallen heart
Now underpowered
To tell you about yesterday tomorrow

In the reckoning
Heart patched with stains
Then you fill the silence
I was not braced
All the enemies
Will find another day to live
Good old fate
There goes my place
See me, feel me
Sinking into deep
Somehow saved me
From the monster inside of me

I carry the remains
Sprinkle the mistakes
So undressed from all the loyalty
Those moments of silence
Till song of a siren
One hell of a
Hurricane for me
As much as there is this lifetime
To stare in those eyes
For the moment of our returning bloom
You'll be my eternal chapter
The never forgotten
Always the love out of reach

We fell apart
We were overpowered
Too far apart
For our devour
This fallen heart
Now underpowered
To tell you about yesterday tomorrow

We fall apart
Tell me about yesterday tomorrow
Tell me about yesterday tomorrow
Tell me about, tell me about it tomorrow
Tell me about yesterday tomorrow
