

Past Tense

Bloom

Do you remember?
What you said
I remember
I wish I could forget
When you said
You didn't need me
You broke me

I needed your love
I wasn't enough
I fade into memories
Of things that I could never be
You expected too much from me

When I needed your love
I was never enough
When it rains it floods
And I'm drenched
From the path that I tread

Pull your words from my head
Did your means justify the end?
We could have tried to make amends
Will I ever be content?

I've doubted myself for too long
There was nothing that I could have done
To fix something broken at its core
Unmendable like plates dropped on the floor