

Slow Down

Blossoms

Slow down, I think we should slow down
Run into my arms now
It's like we forgot how to love

Real intimacy is frowning from the back seat
Said, 'Get your shit together, make time for one another.'
Love requires patience
A two-way conversation
You know you're still my person
But personally I think we should

Slow down, I think we should slow down
Run into my arms now
It's like we forgot how to love

You tell me you're exhausted
Your dreams aren't being thought of Emotional well beings
Retreating through the ceiling
Maybe it's a talent
To put your life in balance
Something's got to give
So give this a thought
What if we just

Slow down, I think we should slow down
Run into my arms now
It's like we forgot how to love

I know that we have both been preoccupied
But that's no excuse we should prioritise
One another, let's not make the same mistakes
I just think that I might be afraid of change
By loves foothills I didn't know what to do
Then my search for peace it ended with you
But I think when that red brick industrial town
Starts to have its doubts, yeah, I think we should

Slow down, I think we should slow down
Run into my arms now
It's like we forgot how to love
