

So There

The Blow

You and I
Yeah, we rarely agree
But we both love drugs
Remember when your drug was me?
You drive me around
While I'd inhale your eyes

I picked up your shoe
You told me
"Now when I look at my shoe it is your fingers that I'm gonna see"
And has it worn off
Or just been replaced?
How you breathe a new face

Now here, years away from it all
When you look back I wonder which parts you recall
How in the end I couldn't go there
Or the moments I was so there

You and I we were driving around
I was someone else's girl
But we refused to let it get us down
Knowing you and I acting low just stoked the high

We passed a motel
The sign read "Fireplaces"
And it glowed like a gates to hell
And did we go in and sin
Or did we drive on by?

Now here, years away from it all
When you look back I wonder which parts you recall
How in the end I couldn't go there
Or the moments I was so there

You and I does not exist anymore
You're a picture in my head
You're in the sea I'm watching from the shore
Can't decide to stay out or get in
Be what I've been or strip down and swim

In the end I am a creature of land
My species couldn't survive
There in the back of your van
Rolling around hunting down the good times
Run over a friend, leave 'em behind and drive on Drive on [x18]
