Gravity

BLP KOSHER

When the seasons start to fall
But gravity's the thing
And sanity and vanity, don't use God's name in vein
When summer turns to fall
But people stay the same
And sanity and vanity, they need to let it rain

Whoa, cannot trust a call
When everyone's the same
And I'm living in the moment now
It's dark inside my brain
I was calling
I was falling
And no one came to save
But everyone be telling you they're only a call away

So hide it inside
And bottle things away
'Cause in the end, I want to fall

When the seasons start to fall
But gravity's the thing
And sanity and vanity, don't use God's name in vein
When summer turns to fall
But people stay the same
And sanity and vanity, they need to let it rain
