

Magnetic

Blue

I've never seen you like I see you right now
I can't control my mind
I'm crossing borderlines

And my resistance is about to break down
Against the gravity
Of our proximity

There's a daydream
And it holds me
As it replays
Over and over again

Something tells me
That you're feeling
All the same things

We never meant to fall in love
But our bodies are electric
Together we're magnetic now
What the hell were we thinking of?
A million miles from home
And we both know we ain't leaving here
Alone
Ain't leaving here
Alone

Something about the way you're looking at me
Won't ever be the same
I wanna feed the flames

You pull me close enough to feel your heat
And I won't let you go
Ain't leaving here alone

There's a daydream
And it holds me
As it replays
Over and over again

Something tells me
That you're feeling
All the same things

We never meant to fall in love
But our bodies are electric
Together we're magnetic now
What the hell were we thinking of?
A million miles from home
And we both know we ain't leaving here
Alone
Ain't leaving here
Alone
Alone
We ain't leaving here alone

And I can lose control

Soul to soul
A million miles away from home
So close your eyes
And just let go

There's a daydream
And it holds me
As it replays
Over and over again

Something tells me
That you're feeling
All the same things

We never meant to fall in love
But our bodies are electric
Together we're magnetic now
What the hell were we thinking of?
A million miles from home
And we both know we ain't leaving here
Alone
We ain't leaving here alone