

Shine again

BlutEngel

We're waiting for a starlight that guides us to a way back home We're waiting for a change that brings the light back into our souls

We're waiting for a starlight

All alone you're driving on this endless road
No one can see the tears on your cheek
You turn on the radio (You turn on the radio)
But you don't listen
No one can see the scars on your soul

We're waiting for a starlight that guides us to a way back home
We're waiting for a change that brings the light back into our
souls
We're waiting for a wonder that heals our bleeding hearts
We're waiting for a new dawn when we can shine again

I'm driving on this endless road
To find you
There's so much pain inside my soul
I turn on the radio (I turn on the radio)
But I don't listen
I'm only thinking of your touch

I can't live without you
And I would die for you
And I know that you feel the same
We belong together even though we hurt ourselves
But I know one day we will shine again

We're waiting for a starlight that guides us to a way back home
We're waiting for a change that brings the light back into our
souls
We're waiting for a wonder that heals our bleeding hearts
We're waiting for a new dawn when we can shine again
We will shine again
We will shine again

We're waiting for a starlight that guides us to a way back home
We're waiting for a change that brings the light back into our
souls
We're waiting for a wonder that heals our bleeding hearts
We're waiting for a new dawn when we can shine again