

Strange Few

bôa

Strange few make a big difference
Dark water in the early morning
Cold comfort dries no tears
Save face just to lose to your fears

What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black
What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in

(Ahhh)
Build walls inside your own head
(Ahhh)
Closed doors in the same rooms I have (Ahhh)
Sad stumble of the old chair
(Ahhh)
Dust falls on their cold cold stares

What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black
What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black

What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black
What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in

Dark is the night that turns your world around
To your delight you find you still care
Somehow you know there is more to do
Somehow you can turn it round again

What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black
What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black
What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in black
What if it could be written in black
Written in black written in

(Oooooo)
Dark water
(Oooooo)
Strange few
(Oooooo)
Dark water
To your delight you find you still care
Strange few
To your delight you find you still care
Dark water
To your delight you find you still care
Strange few, yeah
To your delight you find you still care
To your delight you find you still care

To your delight you find you still care
Dark water
To your delight you find you still care