

One More Night

Bob Catley

Broken but not dead
I can feel my heart beat
I can still feel the air
I know that I've done wrong
That I refused to see
All the harm I caused

I beg you one last time
I beg you on my knees

Give me one more night
A chance to save it all
Before this dark and frozen world will fall
In another life
I would change it all
Can't you give me one more chance
One more night
One more night

Is it too late to make things right
Too late to heal our wounds
And rise up once more
If I could live my life again
I wouldn't listen to the voice
That's inside my head

I beg you one last time
I beg you on my knees

Give me one more night
A chance to save it all
Before this dark and frozen world will fall
In another life
I would change it all
Can't you give me one more chance
One more

I beg you one last time
I beg you on my knees

Give me one more night
A chance to save it all
Before this dark and frozen world will fall
In another life
I would change it all
Can't you give me one more chance
One more night
One more night
Just one more night
Give me one more chance