

I'll Remember You

Bob Seger

Some people climb big mountains
To see what they can see
Some cross mighty oceans
Hopin' to be free
We thank you to condescension
We scrape and crawl through the rust
We rarely see a difference
We long for someone we can trust

I will remember you
No matter what you do
Just give me one last wish
I will remember you

There's only so much pain
There's only so much I can say
I wish I had the words
That would take it all away

I will remember this
Every dream I wish
Every line involved
I will remember 'em all

The touch of your hand and then
The passion I had knowin'
The heart I could never win
I will remember you
I'll remember you, babe
