

Passin' Through

Bob Seger

We're not angry
We're not evil
We're just passin' through
Don't need envy
Don't want power
We're the same as you

Everyone hides after a while
That's just the way it goes
Secrets become something we need
Something we guard like gold
I can tell you plenty that you might not need to hear
Maybe it's a blessing some things are left unclear

We're not special
We're not perfect
We're just passin' through
Got no malice
No agenda
That's not what we do

We live in this world accepting it's real
We learn what we need in time
Everyone wins everyone fails
We try not to be unkind
No one has to tell us that it's harder than it needs to be
Every day brings something we never thought we'd see

We're the future
The horizon
We're just passin' through
We're not strangers
We're not different
We're the same as you

Oh, we're not angry
We're not evil
We're just passin' through
Don't need envy
Don't want power
We're the same as you

We're the future
The horizon
We're just passin' through
We're not strangers
We're not different
We're the same as you

Oh, just passin' through
