

Something More

Bob Seger

When you reach the point where nothing's in your way
When your family and your friend have had their say
When you're here at last, you're right outside my door
Is that all you want or is there something more

Everyone becomes what they believe
Everyone is drawn to what they seek
We all feel the need to come ashore
Is that all you want or is there something more

This is decision time, you must either fight or flee
I can let you in, I can lock you out
Who knows what you mean to me

In the afterglow when all will be revealed
Between the truth and all, it stays concealed
If you find out I'm someone you can ignore
Is that all you want or is there something more
