Where Have All the Seasons Gone

Bobby Bare

Dear mom and dad I'm writing you to say I found a job It's a good job I don't go to work till nine If my old car holds up I guess I'll be home for the Fourth Don't worry bout me everything is fine That was 1952, where have all the seasons gone?

Dear dad remember Peggy we were married Friday night I'll bring her home to see you when I can We took some pictures at the wedding I'll enclose the few And the money that you wanted me to send That was 1953, where have all the seasons gone?

Dear Uncle Ray I thank you for the Christmas card you sent The kids enjoyed the pretty toys you bought Congratulations, awful sad that you retired last week And that you are living in a trailer park That was 1963, where have all the seasons gone?

Yesterday I got a letter from that oldest boy of mine He said that he was doing fine in school He said if his old car holds up he'll be home for the Fourth He said don't you worry papa things are cool That was yesterday, now tell me where have all the seasons gone ?...
