

You Ain't Been Loved Right

Bobby Brown

You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right-right-right

Girl pleading, you think you're strong
Nothing gives to you
You hold your own, a heart of stone
You're so protective that you're all alone
You're a victim of love-istration
All you need is some stronger meditation

You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right-right-right

You're too mean, let your guard down
And I'll get to the heart of the problem
You need someone to put out that fire
Hold you closely and feed your desire
You're disenchanted 'cause you ain't been satisfied
I know what you're missing, you better hope you're not [?]

You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right-right-right
[x2]

Yo, girl, slow your pace
It's written all over your face
You ain't been loved right
Nah, not by B. Brown
So I just got one thing to say
And this is it
Listen
Honey, girl

You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right-right-right
[x4]

You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right
You ain't been loved right-right-right
[x3]