

Help You Mend

Bobby Long

You're too young to know any way out And you're drinking long before And you won't have time to show No one knew this day was ever thinking But then I fade in ... Body really wants to know We have tough breaks We have people to face We have time Before you have to feel that again We have fire, on our burnt skin And it will heal If all you have to feel that again I will help you mend

No one saw the statue in the road Or that the fallen wind was cold And you didn't tell them all you've seen A true mark of you would only hide in me And I still couldn't set you free Or pull the only person back you would be See we have tough breaks We have people to face We have time Before you have to feel that again We have fire, on our burnt skin And it will heal If all you have to feel that again I will help you mend

There's nothing left on the feeling of falling But I will be pulling you back There's nothing left on the feeling of mourning I won't let it fight me again We have tough breaks We have people to face We have time Before you have to feel that again We have fire, on our burnt skin And it will heal If all we have to feel that again We have tough breaks We have people to face We have time Before you have to feel that again We have fire, on our burnt skin If all we have to feel that again I will help you mend.
