

Sick Man Blues

Bobby Long

Sick Man Blues Bobby Long

The darkness hides your eyes Though its not for me to tell You never treat me kind You think that Im unwell It's such a shame It's such a shame

You tried to give me up You flirted with my time I guess you br oke the promise You made somewhere down the line Oh you're a st ruggle Oh you're a struggle

You paid for all my pills And left me in the past You were a go od girl honey You just couldn't make it last

Your love is like the rhinestone of a plague So bare in mind th e lives that you could save Im bound to walk the darkness again Oooh, oooh

I know Im not that easy To live with day to day You painted you r own picture And I let you have your say Ya Im a sinner Oh Im a sinner

My love it sits untainted To the riggers of your stare There ai nt no body like you With the fairness of your hair It leaves me stranded Oh its leaves me stranded

And this life is too long Too long for me to keep Should bare t hat in mind And try the pain you reap

Your love is like the rhinestone of a plague So bare in mind th
e lives that you could save Im bound to walk the darkness again Im bound to walk the darkness again And Im bound to walk the d arkness again