

Brand New

BoDeans

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

Janey looks up to the sky
The rain ain't come down in a long, long time
Now she's lookin' over at her man
Tryin' to hold on as tight as she can

Summer's heat is burning up the grass
Green is turning brown like a shadow being cast
Strangely sad, there ain't a cloud up above
She wishes it would rain she remembers when their love was

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

He does a lot of staring into space
It never really feels like he's even in the race
There's nothin' there in the hot and humid wind
He wonders if they'll ever know the feeling again of

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

The road they're on is hazy from the dust
It's gettin' hard to see all the things they put in trust
But while she sleeps, he whispers with a thirst
"There's a cloud inside me and I'm gonna make it burst out"

Brand new just around the corner from you
Love can be an ocean so blue
If you hold it for a little while
If you hold it for a little while

Just around the corner from you Hold it for a little while
Just around the corner from you Hold it for a little while
Just around the corner from you Hold it for a little while
Just a little while... Just a little while...