In this week's Honorable
An incredible group of young Detroiters using their musical talent
To send an important message to their peers

I hope that young people will listen
And listen to the lyrics
Cause it's a really powerful message

Don't mess with drugs or try

Teenagers telling their peers not to do drugs
And reminding them sex can wait
These kids also say the music industry is sending them the wrong message
Too many of these rappers are using sex to sell and drugs to sell
And so we just wanted to approach it in a different way
(A different way)
