

Let Me Be Your Water

Bonfire

And if I'd ever write a love song I would sing it just for you And you would show me where I belong, I'll be your (wo)man my whole life through What's a day without your sunlight When the clouds don't let it through And what's the sweetest poem compared to When you whisper I Love You

So baby let me be your water Baby let me be your breath Baby let me be the salt In any tear you'll ever shed So baby let me be your comfort In the days your world is cold Baby let me be the one you love 'Til the day we both get old

Let me be Anything you want me to

If I had time to live forever I'd want you here right by my side And what if heaven is a place without you We would hear the angels cry If you weren't born to be my woman The word of god would be a lie There's no devil who caused this heartache Only you're the reason why

So baby let me be your water Baby let me be your breath Baby let
comfort In the days your world is cold Baby let me be the one you
love 'Til the day we both get old

Let me be Anything to you

So baby let me be your water Baby let me be your breath Baby let me be the salt In any tear you'll ever shed So baby let me be your
comfort In the days your world is cold Baby let me be the one you
love 'Til the day we both get old

Repeat 2x So baby let me be...

Let me be Anything to you
