Bonnie 'Prince' Billy

A King At Night

There is grime on my face There is crust in my eye There is no one in this place But no one said goodbye This is how i start another day in my kingdom

There is hate in my heart This is how my day starts There is blood in my hands From the murder of a man This is how i start another day in my kingdom This is how i start another day in my kingdom

And where is my queen Shes as gone as can be She was a fine lookin lady And she liked to go down on me And i liked to go down on her too In indya there's the taj On good times there was rog And here look and see All there is is me This is how i start another day in my kingdom This is how i start another day in my kingdom

There are good times to be had Only insanes really bad The lord and i agree Its not too off to be what we are As long as were royalty You fuck and what's to do (you fuck!) Its not your kingdom too
