

Calling Out

Boo Seeka

You can't even lie
You can't even lie

Hear it in the wind fallin' in to make it better
Hiding in the dark, make your mind to be clever
Do we change it all for the cause
Never knowing why
Never knowing why

I call out and wait for you
For you, can you let me know
How long will I wait for you
For you should I let it go?
Should I let it go?

You can't even lie
You can't even lie

Tell me where you've been, runnin' thin, no silent letters
Always looking in, I begin the change of quiver
Tell me all my flaws, open doors with these hands of mine
These hands of mine

I call out and wait for you (I've been waiting for you)
For you, can you let me know?
How long will I wait? (I've been waiting for you)
For you should I let it go?
I call out and wait for you (I've been waiting for you)
For you, can you let me know?
How long will I wait? (I've been waiting for you)
For you should I let it go?
Should I let it go?

How did we make this happen?
We hadn't even grown
Go back to first reaction
For when our world would grow

You can't even lie
You can't even lie
You can't even
When our world would grow

You can't even lie
You can't even lie
You can't even
When our world would grow

You can't even lie
I call out and wait

You can't even lie
I call out and wait
You can't even lie
You can't even lie
You can't even lie
I call out and wait

You can't even lie
You can't even lie
You can't even lie
I call out and wait