Boondox

Death leaves a legacy, and evil has a memory
I'm lookin' for forever something better than remember me
Thought makes you conscious, love and hate makes you feel
But I needed something bigger, I can touch it, something realer
Than the promise from my father everything would be alright
When these creatures in the darkness have a burning appetite
For uncertainty and fear, ripping, chewing on the mind
Just like cannibals consuming 'til there's nothing left behind
Transcending the horror of a finality
To believe that there's a way into achieving immortality
Reanimatin', creatin' another Frankenstein
Life left me waiting, no fading away, I'm takin' mine

You don't want to let me die
And I would never let you live
With no eternity to wonder why
There's not enough time to forgive
I've been searchin' for the afterlife
It's a burden that I'm heavy with
But you can never let me die
And I would never let you live

Living to die, now I'm dying just to live
Eternal search for explanations, it don't seem to wanna give Put faith in a deceiver with agendas to a lie
'Til it branded me a heathen when I thought to question why
Concede to terror, my perception is violence
Ignoring every error, sit and suffer in silence
There is a better way than a subjective compliance
A different shade of gray, direct collective defiance
I'm killing my psychosis, a cerebral assassin
There's no hopelessness, I'm focused with a lethal compassion
To annihilate confinement in this personal cell
An omnipresent realignment from my personal Hell

You don't want to let me die
And I would never let you live
With no eternity to wonder why
There's not enough time to forgive
I've been searchin' for the afterlife
It's the burden that I'm living with
But you can never let me die
And I will never let you live

Death leaves a legacy, hate makes you feel
Evil has a memory, I wanted something real
Death leaves a legacy, love makes you feel
I'm more than just a memory for me to fuckin' kill

You don't want to let me die
And I would never let you live
With no eternity to wonder why
There's not enough time to forgive
I've been searchin' for the afterlife
It's the burden that I'm living with
But you can never let me die
And I will never let you live

You don't want to let me die
And I would never let you live
With no eternity to wonder why
There's not enough time to forgive
I've been searchin' for the afterlife
It's the burden that I'm living with
But you can never let me die
And I will never let you live
