

I keep dreaming about a better off tomorrow
But time is relative and it's something that we cannot up and borrow
And so I think about today and try to make it last
Appreciate and reminisce but without living in the past
Look I know that life ain't always roses
Everybody tell you grin and bear it positively focus it's bogus
It ain't all that easy just to be yaself
Hopeless in a world if you don't think like someone else
Let's make the globe stop spinnin
Press the reset button take it back to the beginning
Spark a bowl with God I swear and I don't even smoke
But I think that we can agree the universe could use a toke
Lean back look up at the stars and reimagine
If we made some changes just imagine what could happen
One life one journey one love
Hell is all that's waiting if we never rise above

Here's another chance so let the day go by
I don't wanna waste time I just want a better life
I don't wanna make it through another day
Just to fade away and do it all again tomorrow
I'm alone and I won't let go
Do it all again tomorrow
All these things that I can't let go
Do it all again tomorrow

I put the guns away might save them for a rainy day
I take prescriptions for my madness I can sanely say
I've started over countless times and yet the world turns
And I can't tell a lie sometimes I wish they'd let the world burn
So many've come and gone I feel just like a hotel
Relationships won't last because I know that they won't go well
The reaper's taken almost everything I'm probably next
Call me when ya ready better yet send a text
I done had my share of tragedy just check the source
If unhappy endings is my ending then I'm right on course
Sometimes I think that I'd be better off a ghost
Inject me full of hopelessness until I overdose
But then I feel eyes my kids and then I realize
That they're the real prize uncertainty the real lie
I don't have all of the answers but with this I'm certain
We gotta reimagine cause this shit ain't workin

Here's another chance so let the day go by
I don't wanna waste time I just want a better life
I don't wanna make it through another day
Just to fade away and do it all again tomorrow
I'm alone and I won't let go
Do it all again tomorrow
All these things that I can't let go
Do it all again tomorrow
Do it all again tomorrow
Do it all again tomorrow