Exhil∆r∆te

Born of Osiris

and I need to take a step back i need to face the facts that i'm intoxicated but now i need to take a step back save your sanity you will be facing honesty and i said I'd never leave I need to take a step back in this chase

my optimistic agenda's unchanged whats at stake
a separation that leaves me unscathed in this phase i am standing and you're drifting away now you're facing a chance to prevail among the wrathful

your silence has awakened my abilities it's taking over take this message as a gift from me you need to listen to your heart can you tell what it says we got the plan here deconstruct, construct a new life and never push aside your instincts stay alive this is endless power coursing through our veins triumphant in this hour you will never look at us the same