

Husha

Born Ruffians

Lay low and they'll forget about it
You won't, I know
You got that sorta polka-dotted rhythm
How you come and you go

And if I could have your face in my two hands
I'd feel it out, figure it out
Why you would not recognize a love so obvious
It'd put a ring around your rosy, pocketful of posies

Husha, husha
I said husha, husha

Say it's so and don't forget about us
You won't, I know
Something in the way, you got a rhythm
How you come and you go

And if I could have your face in my two hands
I'd feel it out, figure it out
Why you would not recognize a love so obvious
It'd put a ring around your rosy, pocketful of posies

Husha, husha
I said husha, husha

I pine for you
Did you even know I was there last night?
I ordered two beers and drank 'em both
I can make it right
I know I text too much
And you don't ever write me back
You got a rhythm like a heart attack

I said husha, husha
I said husha, husha
I said husha, husha
I said husha, husha
Sometimes we all fall down
