

The Emotion

Børns

Shadows fill my mind up
Zeros tell me my time's up
I lost count so long ago
Maybe my heart's numb
Don't hold my hands accountable
They're young and they're dumb

Drive through the timezones
Escape out of my mind's own home
I lost you not long ago
Heaven knows I'm miserable
Hell takes all the credit though
'Til the day is done

The emotion is suddenly out of me
The emotion's building up inside of me
And what you're looking for is suddenly out of reach
The emotion, the emotion

Islands under eyelids
Swimming through the silence
You were all that, all that, all that I needed
And I'm falling, falling into the deep end now

The emotion is suddenly out of me
The emotion's building up inside of me
And what you're looking for is suddenly out of reach
The emotion, the emotion

Rolling through the dark
Calling to the light of day
Both eyes are open now and I'm running
I won't turn around for you

The emotion is suddenly out of me
The emotion is building up inside of me
And what you're looking for is suddenly out of reach
The emotion, the emotion