They're flying, they're styling, the President is smiling We're losin', it's confusin', we're beggin', they're refusin' Can't replace it, erase it, come back to hell and face it Without lying, we're dying, the choppers keep on flying Like they're playin', who're they saving?

The President is waving

Ooh, sometimes I see the faces, so real to me Can you see anything you recall?
Big shots in helicopters on my TV
Can you feel anything after all?

And everyone is telling me
This is just the way it's meant to be
You're living in a world of fantasy
And there we waited
Each wasted day, hope devastated

Sail away, sail away
For the human race we're gonna leave disgrace behind
Sail away, sail away
From the jaws of hate we'll take control of fate this time

Sometimes I hide the feelings I'm going through You can lie, but you know no one cares Outside the waves are crashing, the piper's due Here inside you can't go anywhere

And everyone keeps telling me
God will save us all eventually
This is just the way it's meant to be
Just scared of thinking ... the angry seas
Our ship is sinking