

The Tower

Boundaries

You sit, so content
In your distance
Always cold, undiscovered (You don't know what I need)
Unstirred by every breeze and tremor
Your affection was so slow to smother me
Just another soul you couldn't save

I am as you made me
But you hate what you see (What you see)
You wrap yourself in light to hide
Too far away to find
How could your blood not belong?
I'm breaking down the door to Babylon

I am your image, but I am imperfect
So what's needed just to survive?
Then what's left?
What's left for us?
Every night I prayed
I didn't know the right words to say
I just wanted to safe
To find my own way
To not be haunted by what you let happen to me

Catch, clench, crush
I want it back
Catch, clench, crush
I want it all back
Catch, clench, crush
I want it back
Catch, clench, crush
I want what you have
Catch, clench, crush
I want it back
Catch, clench, crush
I want it all back
Catch, clench, crush
I want what you have
Catch, clench, crush
I want it for myself

For everyone that's helped me stay alive all these years
Who have helped me to face my fears?
The people that have kept me here

I wish I could make the sky come crashing down (Crashing down)
And wipe away all the worlds despair
To fill the air with reason and purpose
To not let a single moment spare
That could be spent with the ones we'll miss

What has God ever done for me? (Done for me?)
What has God (What has God)
Ever done for me? (Done for me?)
What has God ever done for me?

Done for me?

Done for me?
Done for me?
Done for me?
Done for me?
Done for me?
