

Hollow Ground

Boy & Bear

I'm a stone-cold liar
I'm not built for walking alone
Now the truth is coming down hard

See the point I'm making
What's the point in breaking in two
It's a waste of your precious time

So don't you bury your anchor dear
For many years I've wandered that hollow ground
There's a gap in your atmosphere
And you need it love to drop all that ammo down

Cast away them demons
Take the tip they're all full of shit
But you'll miss them all when they're gone

'Cos my dream got jaded
Like a smoke when you're caught in a hole
Now the whole thing is coming down hard

So don't you bury your anchor dear
For many years I've wandered that hollow ground
It's just a gap in your atmosphere
And you need it love to drop all that ammo down

So don't you bury your anchor dear
It's bad but it ain't that bad
Oh you need it love to drop all that ammo down
And you wait for your world to call
Cos' you want it all
So get what you came here for
I'm not what you came here for
