I cant tell what you're thinking
I'm only guessing in the dark
With my hands I make the shape of you

Cos there's nothing to lose but the war Nowhere to get to from this star port Distance takes me another day from you But the cosmic view will suffice for the while

I ended up a long long way out here
Just another wave of restless sound as long as I go
I ended up a long long way
A long long way out here

Now every moment ahead is rushing up on me And there's nothing to lose any more Maybe I've become a distant sun Could you tell which one from down below

I ended up a long long way out here
Just another wave of restless sound as long as I go
I ended up a long long way
A long long way out here

I ended up a long long way out here
And I've been wandering and weightless all on my own
I ended up a long long way
A long long way out here

Now every moment ahead Is rushing up on me
