

Beneath The Sea's Bed

Boy Hits Car

(lady harmonizing)

sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

what else can i place here?

what more can be returned?

it seems as though you have tried no one will ever feel your bleeding and now the tide's come to leave here to go find myself again i enter her very softly until it's away from this land

all the pain inside

that we try to hide

if you can't find me

look beneath the sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

sea's bed

oh-ho-ho

maybe it comes up there underneath the surface

so go listen carefully to the proclaiming wind who carries with it and that is what i remember the sweet smile of remedy one final breath and i'll dive down the worlds become's obsolete and this is what i remember

the pain of being alive

just like a bewildered child

who's only trying to hide

all the tears we've cried in an endless fight

if you can't find me

look beneath the sea

all the pain inside

that we try to hide

if you can't find me

look beneath the sea's bed

(lady oh-ho-oh)

everything that you thought will be fine

everything that you begin to feel inside everything that you thought you'd know everything that you've come to see will show

everything that you thought will be fine

everything that you begin to feel inside

everything that you thought you'd be go everytime that you thought to go with the flow everything you got to be and know everything you start to feel and show

everything you start to see inside

everything you got you know to you hide everything you do to be alone

everything you know you feels so everything you know just feels fine everything you know and want to do no one seems to understand! how my heart's been pulled in half!
so now here's one final breath!
as i sink into her blue chasm whoa
everything you got to be and know
everything you start to feel and show
everything you start to see inside
everything you got you know to you hide
everything you do to be alone
everything you know you feels so
everything you know just feels fine
everything you know and want to do
and this is what i remember!
the pain of being alive!
just like a bewildered child!
who's only trying to hide!
all the pain inside
that we try to hide
if you can't find me
look beneath the sea bed...