Will you ever say you love me
Say you want me, or whatever
I have wondered if you need me
It doesn't always seem like it

But after all is fine
That you need this much time
It's obvious what you think I understand

Will you ever care about me
Ask about me, talk whenever
I've been waiting, really struggling
Since forever, to make you smile

And if you say goodbye
I won't be asking why
It's obvious what you think about us

I'm tired of everything
Let me know, oh, do you feel the same?
