

Warren's Song, Pt. 12

Bracket

My yesterday was another lifeless day
And I write the saddest poetry when I think of you
I'm not here I'm not there
But I see you everywhere
With your every word
Laced with beauty
When you speak the truth

Now I know love is complicated
Everyone is faded
Words are calculated
Your soul is persuaded
You're self medicated
You're all I have left to lose

And now you decorate
Every thought I have today
And a glimpse of your obscurity
Takes you far from me
All of my sleepless nights
My elusive sacrifice
I can dedicate my wounds to you
A promise to succeed

Now I know love is complicated
Everyone is faded
Words are calculated
Your soul is persuaded
You're self medicated
You're all I have left to lose

There is nothing you can say
To help me forget you
I'm promising that I will Fall apart when I see you

My yesterday was another lifeless day
And I write the saddest poetry when you're far away from me
All of my sleepless nights
My elusive sacrifice
I can dedicate my wounds to you
A promise to succeed

Now I know love is complicated
Everyone is faded
Words are calculated
Your soul is persuaded
You're self medicated
You're all I have left to lose