Brain Drill

unknown beings glancing to the sky unaware of their existence of what when or why a green light above shifting and changing sinking through the earth , history rearranging quickly habitations are melting and burning eternal force of death glowing and turning heat hits their flesh while melting their brains growing into decimation entity of extinction twitching , convulsing , no time to decay veins quickly rapture, every orifice leaking radiation extinction , eradication is reeking viscera liquefied, spewing out bile splintering bones fall to a disintegrated pile passing through the core , no stopping all the killing force wiping out all life forms no senses , no remorse entity forever traveling through space wiping out all life forms no senses , no remorse easily erasing at a lightning fast pace a planet once lived now black and dead death will continue for what lies ahead