

You know I think about it way too much
I just wanna feel my fate like I don't know how to touch you safely
Your DJ has only just begun

So what if you're not confident?
You feel that way to me so don't look for more offerings
To bother you with how you're following a fucking part of you
If opposite at least you got a starting point but it's hard to do
This is far from taking mainstage
I'll park the car away from over where the cane sprays
I need an argument for my obnoxious ways I shake state
To override my comfort zone, depart it and I'm on pace
But I don't need to race
Always say if you need some space
Be more safe if you open gates
I'll be waiting to do you favors
I swear this in my nature
My patience is open acres and I care if you're faking playfulness
And my lies all slowly faded so I cried and then I faced it
I don't even know my patience
I'm not clean
But I am not waste
I took his ego to the movies, that's a docked case

You know I think about it way too much
I just wanna feel my fate like I don't know how to touch you safely

This isn't pastime
I got more on my mind, they think I'm crazy
And I say oh my God, oh my God I am
While I take you out of this place I hope I'm not phased
'Cause what you want makes me happy
What you want makes me happy
