

Scars

Brandon Heath

Feels like I'm walking away
Survivor of a wreck on the interstate
Stumbling from the rubble of an earthquake
Still alive but I will never be the same
Feels like I keep waking up
From running all night through a nightmare
Lying wide awake but I'm stuck there
I can see the light but I'm still scared

They say give it time
You'll be fine
If I get one more piece of advice I'll lose my mind

God, I hope this prayer gets through the ceiling
Not that I don't believe in healing
I know I'll be ok but I'm not feeling it today
And I, I wanna think that there's a reason
That's why I'm praying to you Jesus
Cause you know it's hard
And even you had scars that never went away

It's like a whole different world
I don't even recognize it anymore
Bleeding from a wound I didn't have before
Walking with a limp on a shaky floor

And they say give it time
You'll be fine
It's easy to say when it's somebody else
It's easy to hope when it's not for yourself

Oh God, I hope this prayer gets through the ceiling
Not that I don't believe in healing
I know I'll be ok but I'm not feeling it today
And I, I wanna think that there's a reason
That's why I'm praying to you Jesus
Cause you know it's hard
And even you had scars that never went away

If I'm not gonna lose it
If I'm not gonna lose it
Promise me you'll use it
Promise me you'll use it

Oh my God, I hope this prayer gets through the ceiling
Not that I don't believe in healing
I know I'll be ok but I'm not feeling it today
And I, I wanna think that there's a reason
That's why I'm praying to you Jesus
Cause you know it's hard
And even you had scars that never went away

If I'm not gonna lose it
If I'm not gonna lose it
Promise me you'll use it
Promise me you'll use it
If I'm not gonna lose it

If I'm not gonna lose it
Promise me you'll use it
Promise me you'll use it
You'll use it

Even you had scars that never went away
