

Man Without Shadow

Breakbot

He's been running away from the others
Away from himself
Pouring every single drop from his mind
'Till there's no more left
Is there a way to forget it
A way to reset it and start all over again
So you'll never have to know what it feels like
To regret

As long as I can stand, I'll walk
And every step will bring me closer
Taking me from sand to rock
'Till I find the answer

He's been running away from his brothers
Making his own mother weep
Trying to stay ahead of his time
Still waters run deep
Is there no other way to escape it
No way to reshape it and start all over again
So you'll never have to find out the meaning
Of deceit

As long as I can stand, I'll walk
And every step will bring me closer
I've been searching all around the clock
For that four leaf clover
As long as I can walk I'll run
And every step will take me closer
Ahead of all the moons and the sun
'Till I find my answer

He's the man without a shadow
Escaping from his past
Living in the future
Trying to make it last
The man without a shadow
Is living life so fast
His head is in the future
But his heart is in the past

He's the man without a shadow
Escaping from his past
Living in the future
Trying to make it last
The man without a shadow
Is living life so fast
His head is in the future
But his heart is in the past

Away from the others
Away from himself
Away from himself
